Description

The University of Freiburg is the fifth oldest university in Germany. Its long history teaching across sciences and humanities subjects has earned its reputation as one of Germany’s elite universities worldwide. University buildings are integrated within the city of Freiburg, on three large campuses next to the historical city centre. University buildings display historic architecture, like the old university library.

Surrounding Area

Freiburg is situated in the city of Breisgau, which resides in the south west of Germany. The city is well known for its vibrant nature and its reconstructed medieval old town. Freiburg has an incredibly well integrated network of trams, buses and commuter-rail lines, providing links for visits to Switzerland, France and Austria.

Accommodation

The University provides accommodation on campus for a limited amount of International students however there are plenty of private accommodation options available.
